State Primary Bid Seen For Kennedy

Petition Drive Planned In Fall

NEBRASKA VOTE A KEY ONE, SENATOR SAYS IN OMAHA

By Don Walton

Omaha, Neb.—Sen. John Kennedy window-shopped in Nebraska Sunday.

He came to see and to be seen. Both were accomplished in fine fettle at a picnic dinner hosted by Democratic National Committeeman Bernie Boyle.

Kennedy, who mingled freely with the top party contributors, in Boyle's back yard, will almost certainly enter next spring's Nebraska presidential primary.

Here is the probable timetable (as put together from conversation with Kennedy and key Nebraska Democrats):

—Kennedy will announce his candidacy for the presidency this December.

—Petitions will be circulated by Kennedy Democrats in Nebraska late this year.

—Kennedy will accept the petition bid to enter the state primary next January.

—Kennedy himself would say only that he plans to make a decision on his possible presidential candidacy "in December" and that a decision on the Nebraska primary would follow that.

The tousle-haired senator, out in front for his party's presidential nomination, told a mass news conference he considers Nebraska "a key primary" for presidential hopes.

He cited the state's location, the fact that "it is coming over to the Democratic side," and its combination of industry and agriculture as prime factors.

Kennedy said the possibility that he might toss his hat into the Cornhusker primary had been "discussed in a general way."

"No decision," he noted, "has been reached."

The Massachusetts senator was closeted with members of the state party's advisory committee (4 members from each of Nebraska's 4 congressional districts) in Boyles' home prior to his public appearance.

He held forth with the press, individually and collectively, for about an hour, then shook hands with most of the 400 Democratic guests before a chicken dinner and a hurried flight back to Washington Sunday night.

Kennedy declined to name the Republican he would consider to be the toughest presidential nominee.

He admitted he "didn't know" what impact his religion (Roman Catholic) would have on his possible candidacy.

'Ought To Enter Some'

On another point, Kennedy suggested that "all those who seek the presidency ought to enter some primaries."

Kennedy has placed quite an investment in Nebraska's political soil.

He has carefully cultivated it for the past 3 years.

He made appearances in both Lincoln and Omaha in the past two years.

Sunday he made this year's Omaha trip. He will be in Lincoln this October.

Ike Meeting 'Useful'

On other matters, Kennedy said the forthcoming exchange of visits by President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev would be "useful," though he expected "no change in the atmosphere."

—termed Vice President Nixon's visit to Russia "useful to him," noting that it had given Nixon "increased stature."

—said Eisenhower's labor speech last week had made it "more difficult" to get a strong labor bill out of Congress, particularly when the President seemed to aim for a "restrictive" bill rather than one "directed against racketeers."

—called the farm problem our most important domestic issue.

—Kidnap-Rape Investigation—

Man Held Who Might Be Noble

By Del Harding

A man matching the description of kidnap-rape suspect Harlan Lynn Noble is being held by police in Douglas, Wyo., and his photograph and fingerprints are being air-mailed to Lincoln.

Douglas Police Chief Robert Ainslie, who with the Douglas Sheriff captured mass-killer Charles Starkweather near Douglas in January, 1958, said the man denied he is Noble and claims to have hitch-hiked to Douglas from California.

Ainslie said he has had 5 persons compare the man with the photos and description of Noble on a wanted poster sent them from Lincoln and they all agree the man bears a strong resemblance to Noble.

The man was picked up loitering in downtown Douglas Saturday night, Ainslie said. He was wearing blue jeans and a striped shirt.

Here Monday

The man's photo and fingerprints are due to arrive in Lincoln Monday and police here will be able to quickly determine if he is Noble by a comparison of fingerprints.

Noble, 47, is charged here with the kidnap-rape of 6-year-old Theresa Dowling, who was snatched from her bedroom the night of August 1 and carried away on foot by a man she has identified from photographs as Noble.

Noble escaped from a mental hospital at Larned, Kan., June 3 and it has been determined he came to Lincoln the next day. He has been positively identified by a latent fingerprint taken from the room at 1937 F where he had been staying for about a month.

Indications He's Gone

Noble was last seen in Lincoln Wednesday and Police Chief Joe Carroll said "all indications" are that he has left town.

Carroll said, however, that 12 to 16 men are still working 12 hours a day on the case and that all other officers also are on the watch for Noble to be on the safe side.

Theresa was released from the hospital Saturday. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Dowling, she and her family reportedly are now out of town.

Window-Peeper Search Halted

Randolph, Neb. (P) — A search was abandoned Sunday for a man who was the target of two shotgun blasts after he peered into a farmhouse window Saturday morning.

There had been speculation the man sought might be Harlan Lynn Noble, an escapee from a Kansas mental hospital. Noble is sought in the kidnap and rape a week ago of 6-year-old Theresa Dowling of Lincoln.

Pierce County Sheriff Elmer Kuhl, assisting in the search near Randolph which is just inside Cedar County, said some tracks had been found in a corn field but there was no trace of the man.

Cedar County Sheriff John F. Riibe said the search was started in the cornfield Saturday night and was resumed Sunday morning by law officers and farmers.

The man had peered into the window of the house at the Russell Laughlin farm. Laughlin said he fired twice with a shotgun at the man and believed he may have hit him as he heard cries, apparently of pain.

Crash Kills 2, Hurts 6

Near Scottsbluff

Scottsbluff, Neb. (P) — Two persons were killed and six others injured in a two-car collision at the intersection of two paved county roads about two miles north of Scottsbluff Sunday night.

The dead were identified as 5-year-old Debra Bamrick and Rudy Diaz, about 20, both of Scottsbluff. They were in different autos.

Highway Patrolman Edward Folkers said a car driven by Edward Ventura, about 20, of Scottsbluff, in which Diaz was riding, apparently ran a stop sign and was hit head on by the other car, driven by Mike Bamrick, 17.

Both autos were demolished. The Bamrick car caught fire and passersby removed the injured.

Extent of injuries and conditions of those hurt had not been determined late Sunday night. The injured included Mike Bamrick; Ventura; Mrs. John Bamrick, mother of the dead girl; Patty Bamrick, 8 months; and Mrs. Esther Blattner of Scottsbluff, and Jose De Lo Torre, about 20, Scottsbluff, who was in the Ventura car.

The deaths raised Nebraska's 1959 traffic fatality toll to 193, compared with 190 at this time last year.

Tot Dies In Road Crash

Lincoln Star Special
Albion, Neb.—An 18-month-old child, Harold Dean Brennes, died Sunday afternoon in a county road intersection crash two miles west and one north of Albion.

The child was a passenger in a southbound car driven by Alfred B. Brennes, 26, of Albion. The other car, eastbound, was driven by Janice E. Taylor, 20, of Albion.

Formosa Disaster—

Flash Floods Kill Hundreds

Taipei, Formosa (P)—Flash floods from the heaviest rains in 62 years have visited a major disaster on Formosa. Formosans were stunned tonight by the latest official casualty figures—498 known dead, 541 missing and 563 injured.

President Chiang Kai-Shek ordered the army to give all possible help to flood victims and instructed the cabinet to take immediate measures for relief.

Rain was still falling in some areas of this Nationalist Chinese bastion and it was feared the death toll might run much higher. Damage was estimated at millions of dollars.

Ellen Coincides

The downpour that brought the disaster began Friday as Typhoon Ellen was bearing down on Japan. Ellen hit southern Japan Friday.

Local weathermen said there was no connection between Ellen and Formosa's torrential rains. They attributed the latter to a storm in the South China Sea which originated 1,200 miles from Ellen.

Heavy rains also were reported in the Peiping area of Red China. Radio Peiping said 20½ inches fell in the area in 37 days—nearly the normal annual rainfall—and that "several million peasants" were battling floods.

The intensity of Formosa's storm was illustrated by a rainfall of nearly 24½ inches in 36 hours at Taichung, in the central part of the island.

Water stood 6 feet deep in places.

Floods swept away roads, railway beds, and telephone and power lines and it was not until Sunday that reports from isolated communities began to add up to a major disaster.

At Miaoli, also in central Formosa, 75 persons perished and 750 houses were washed away.

Weston Man Dies Of Burns From Heater

Guy Anderson, 33, of Weston, died at a local hospital Sunday of burns suffered Aug. 1 in a home explosion.

According to Weston officials Mr. Anderson was injured while showing a friend, George Crawford, 55, also of Weston, how to operate a gas heater in the Anderson home.

Mr. Anderson suffered burns over 50% of his body according to hospital officials.

The condition of Crawford, also hospitalized in Lincoln with burns over 50% of his body, was described as "not so good," by a hospital spokesman.

Lincolnites Back From Soviet Tour Report:

Russian People 'Friendly, Helpful'

By Nancy Shirley

A tour which would "alleviate misunderstandings" about the people of Russia. That was the goal of the 6 Lincolnites who embarked July 21st for a 10-day trip of Europe, concentrating on a tour of Russia.

Three of these 6 men returned to Lincoln Sunday, weary but confident that they had seen Russia at its best and its worst, and had gained an insight into the Russian people, and conditions that surround these people.

Returning Sunday were Jack Bates of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, who acted as general director of the Lincoln tour; J. Phillip Mahoney, Lincoln contractor, and John F. Zimmer Jr., Lincoln insurance man.

The 3 agreed that the most lasting impression of the tour was "the friendliness of the Russian people."

"Although Americans must make the first overtures," said, "the Russian people will go out of their way to help a traveler."

Poorer More Willing

Zimmer, who said he thought "the poorer the Russian citizen is, the more willing he is to help," illustrated the friendliness of the Russian citizen with an incident which occurred at the end of their tour.

The group was shopping in Leningrad, "mostly buying presents for the folks at home," Zimmer said. One of the members of the tour wanted to buy a toy shotgun for his grandson, but found that he lacked just one ruble (10 cents in American money at the tourist exchange rate) of the purchase price.

At that point a Russian woman approached the American, Zimmer relates, and gave him the necessary ruble.

"The other tourist came to me and asked me for the money to repay the woman," Zimmer said. "I gave it to him, but the woman refused to accept it in repayment."

'Warm, Wonderful'

"Although the Russian people have been kicked around a lot, and believe and do exactly as they are told, they are still very warm, wonderful people," Zimmer said.

Bates, who said that Americans "are immediately recognized as tourists," told of the only time during the tour when a Russian citizen was unfriendly to the group.

"We entered a Russian subway," Bates said, "and sat down near an elderly Russian man."

"The man, after shouting something about 'Americans,' got up and stalked to another part of the car," Bates recalled. "After this incident, the rest of the people on the subway were extra-friendly, as if to make up for what they obviously considered bad manners."

"The Russian people don't understand the meaning of freedom as we enjoy it," Bates continued. "They have no conception of America. They can't comprehend the measure of material wealth we enjoy."

'Asked About Helicopter'

"Why, our young Russian guide, who was very well educated, asked me if I had a helicopter," Bates said.

The one thing which all 3 cited as perhaps the highlight of their trip was the passage between east and west Berlin.

"It's something which every American should see," Bates commented.

"One street which runs through the heart of East Berlin (the Communist sector) is very well developed," Mahoney said. "It is wide, well-paved, and lined with big stores and apartment houses. It's all very impressive."

"But just look one-half block either side of this street, and you see nothing but rubble," he continued.

"This is just one example of the 'Big Lie' the Russian people are living," Mahoney said.

"And then you reach West Berlin, you see homes under construction, hotels, shops (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2.)

Showers Seen For State Monday

Old Man Sun is scheduled to disappear from Nebraska skies Monday as the weatherman has predicted scattered showers over the state Monday.

The Panhandle is in line for thundershowers Monday, with the storm moving eastward over the state Monday night.

A thundershower poured 85 inches of rain on the Columbus area late Sunday. A trace also fell in Lincoln and Omaha.

North Platte recorded both the high and low temperatures for the state Sunday. The low was 56, the high a simmering 96. Lincoln reported a high of 93 and a low of 61.

Nikita Tricky, Nixon Attests

... Narrates Films Of Visit

Washington (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon said Sunday that in dealing with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev you have to be on guard every moment because he likes to do the unexpected when he can.

Nixon, acting as narrator for televised films of his visit to Russia and Poland, gave his impressions of Khrushchev in this word picture:

"A very vigorous and articulate defender of his point of view, and one, incidentally, who always knew how to grab the headlines, and at times to keep them, whenever he had an opportunity...

"In dealing with Mr. Khrushchev, things don't go as you expect, because he is a man who likes to do the unexpected whenever he possibly can...

"You find that you have to watch every moment when you are with Mr. Khrushchev... "He doesn't like to concede anything."

The descriptions of Khrushchev were sprinkled through Nixon's pre-taped narration for CBS, to be broadcast half an hour after a similar live nationwide broadcast for NBC.

On the live broadcast Nixon said he got his first glimpse of Khrushchev's debating tactics on his very first meeting with the Soviet premier in the Kremlin, when what was supposed to be just an official greeting turned into an hour's discussion.

"Mr. Khrushchev likes to get right down to brass tacks," Nixon said.

The Vice President reported Khrushchev is much quieter and more direct in his talk

VP Believed Front Runner

Washington (UPI)—Two top Democrats agreed Sunday that Vice President Nixon's trip to Russia and Poland has made him a stronger potential GOP presidential candidate than New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Senate Democratic whip Mike Mansfield (Mont.) said that before Nixon's trip he believed Rockefeller would be the stronger candidate. But now, he said, "the positions have been reversed" and Nixon "would be the most difficult man to beat."

Sen. George A. Smathers (Fla.), chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, said that because of the Russian trip and an "ever increasing stature" he believed Nixon definitely would get the Republican nomination.

Traffic Safety Is Pulpit Topic

Church-goers at the First Methodist Church Sunday got a lesson on traffic safety.

The Rev. Carl Davidson, pastor of the church, included a reference to safe driving in his sermon on moral issues. "If anyone takes a high-powered car and drives on the highway, he is as morally responsible as a man who carries a gun and shoots it within the city limits," the Rev. Mr. Davidson said.

"Men today face moral issues not faced by our forefathers," the Rev. Mr. Davidson continued. "One of these is an individual responsibility for highway driving and traffic safety."

when he is in private. "Publicly," said Nixon, "he is a man who, like many of us, plays to the people."

Cuban Stress Rising

Roundup Pushed For Castro Foes

Havana (AP)—A jittery rebel government Sunday pressed a roundup of conspiracy suspects. One official source said up to 200 men—military and civilian—had been detained for questioning.

While the dragnet reached into various parts of Cuba, sources at the presidential palace described as absurd a rumor that the arrests reached a figure near 1,000.

Havana (AP)—Military chief Raul Castro took time out Sunday to attend the wedding of a comrade in arms and almost got his pistol stolen.

Premier Fidel Castro's regime officially denied there had been hostilities anywhere on Cuban territory.

Attacks Told Despite denials by Raul Castro, the premier's brother and commander-in-chief of the Cuban armed forces, reports continued to circulate in Havana that anti-Castro forces from the Dominican Republic made two attempts to land on the Isle of Pines of the southwest coast of Cuba.

These reports said a boatload of raiders attempted to land Friday night and two plane loads of men hostile to Castro's regime tried to attack the Isle of Pines early Saturday.

The objective of both attempts, these reports said, was to free former Batista air force pilots imprisoned on the Isle of Pines and incorporate them into anti-Castro forces reported in training in the Dominican Republic.

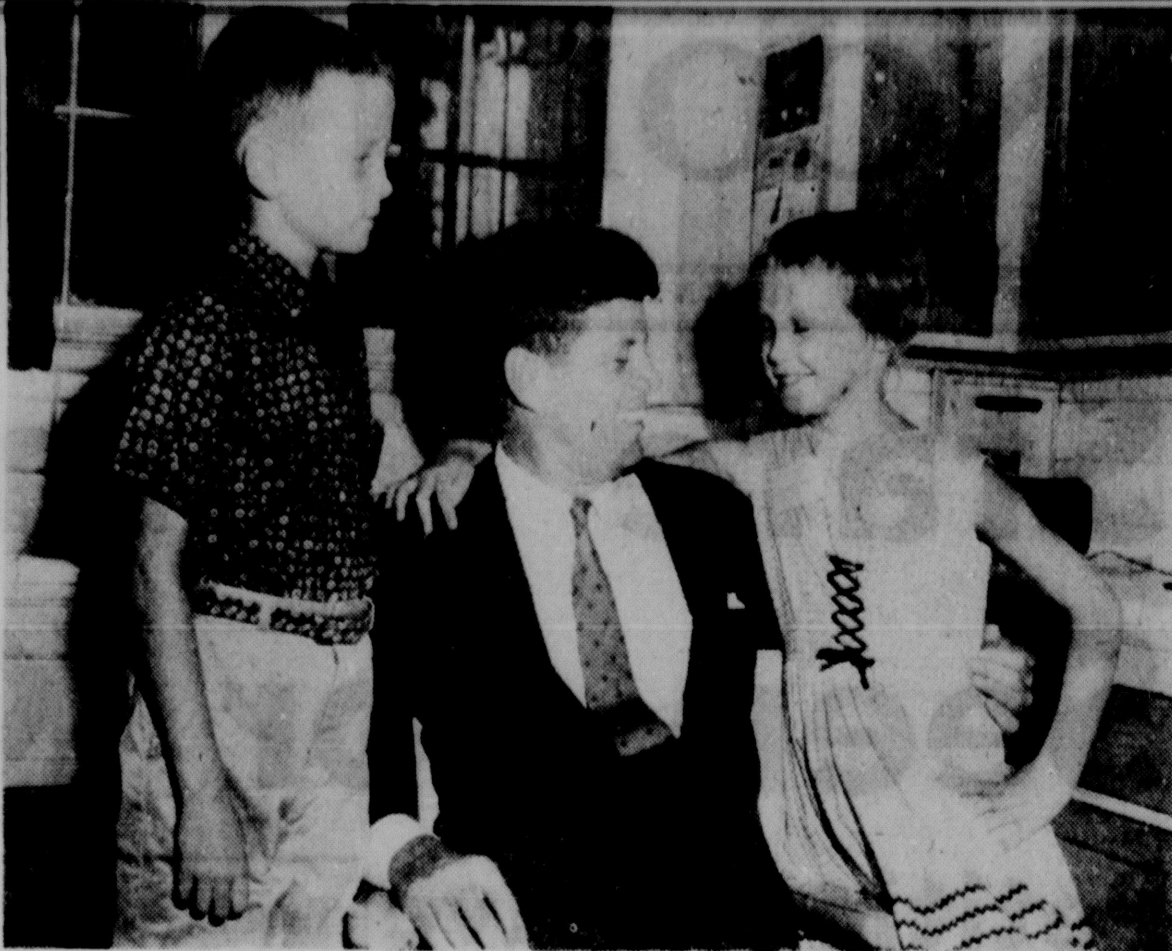

Tries Failed The unconfirmed accounts said Castro forces on the Isle of Pines smashed both attempts and captured a number of prisoners.

Domestic trouble, however, was obvious. Official sources said Castro forces battled with an armed group of undetermined size near a sugar mill at Cienfuegos, 130 miles east of Havana, killing two and arresting 15. Army casualties, if any, were not revealed.

Traffic Normal Cuban airline planes were operating normally between Havana and the Isle of Pines Sunday. There were no restrictions on passengers.

Castro's cabinet was expected to decree dissolution of the national secret police, transferring the personnel to the national revolutionary police.

This would switch the police now under the interior ministry to the jurisdiction of the rebel army under Raul Castro.

Kennedy And Youthful Admirers

Sen. John Kennedy's brief stay in Omaha Sunday was a "go-go" affair, but he took time to answer a couple questions fired to him by the grandchildren of Democratic National Committeeman Bernie Boyle, host at a picnic at his home. The youthful admirers are Laurie (ta left) and Johnny Boyle, both of Omaha.

Brooks Turns Attention Toward National Issues

By Don Walton

Omaha—Gov. Ralph Brooks turned his attention sharply Sunday from state matters to national issues.

The governor's sudden shift of focus was the most significant development apparent at the statewide gathering of Nebraska Democrats to fete party contributors.

It may well point the way to a bid by Brooks next spring for the party's senatorial nomination and a possible collision next fall with Republican Sen. Carl Curtis.

Brooks centered his remarks on the vast national Interstate Highway scheme and its financing problems; the Khrushchev-Eisenhower exchange; Vice President Nixon's Russian trip and national reclamation problems involved in the President's no-new-starts ban.

'Running For Cover' Pressed to reveal his political plans, the governor told newsmen he is "running like the dickens," later allowed the dash was a retreat "for cover."

Asked if he might attempt to unseat Curtis, Brooks took a long puff on his stogie and said: "This is a good cigar."

The governor took a crack earlier at Curtis, predicting that he would soon "run out of something to say" since "he's been campaigning since Nov. 4."

Rep. Larry Brock, Third District, said he thought there was a good chance that several key Nebraska reclamation projects would be approved during this session of Congress.

'Ammunition' He said his tour of flood-ravished lands in his district this weekend armed him with vital ammunition in his battle to get a $400,000 appropriation for the Salt-Wahoo Watershed.

(The Senate has already approved that figure.) Brock said he believed chances were especially good for the Gering project.

Also present for a news conference was Robert Conrad, administrative assistant to

Gov. Brooks, who declined to reveal any future political plans.

Conrad is in line for the party's gubernatorial nomination if Brooks decides to seek the Senate seat.

Two Hurt As Ambulance, 2 Cars Collide

A pair of Lincolns, Mrs. C. R. Frey, 45, of 4120 Washington, and C. E. VanTassel of 1811 Garfield, were listed in "good" condition at a local hospital Sunday with injuries suffered in a 3-car collision.

According to hospital officials Mrs. Frey suffered multiple fractures of the arm, ribs and pelvis, while VanTassel, a passenger in the Frey car, suffered head injuries, numerous bruises and a possible fractured hip.

The accident occurred Sunday afternoon when an ambulance driven by Gary Foss, 20, of 1141 H, was in collision with a car driven by Mrs. Frey, at the intersection of 13th and K, according to police reports.

Following the first collision the Frey car was in collision with a car stopped for a stop light on 13th. Driver of the stopped car was D. W. Duncan, 47, of 1145 So. 15.

Police estimated damage to the ambulance, owned by Wadlow's Mortuary, at $600. Damage to the Frey car was estimated at approximately $100 with about $40 damage to the Duncan car police officers said.

According to police reports the ambulance was flashing its red lights but the siren was not turned on at the time of the crash.

'Worst Flood' Results Seen In Wahoo Tour

Partially flooded houses, mud covered equipment, impassable roads, and records of "the worst flood" were seen by former Gov. Robert Crosby as he toured the flooded Wahoo area Saturday.

Crosby, secretary of the Wahoo Watershed Association, toured the area with Congressman Lawrence Brock of Wakefield.

Here is Crosby's report: "This was the first flood in the history of Prague that had inundated a substantial part of the business section of the town. In some parts of the Wahoo basin, it was the worst flood in the area's history."

"Tens and thousands of acres of corn and other crops were destroyed, Saunders County officials estimated that over 120 county bridges and culverts were damaged or destroyed. Many of the roads were impassable."

"In the areas near Memphis and Prague, several grain elevators and a number of grain storage bins were severely hit by the flood. We saw the owners of these elevators desperately trying to dry out the grain."

"We saw a concrete block plant that was still out of operation a week after the flood. In one such plant mud was covering everything including articles that were shoulder high."

"We talked to a great number of people and all of them were insistent that something ought to be done. Many were in favor of a Salt-Wahoo Watershed flood control program."

"When one looked at the results of the flood, one wondered how some lives were not lost."

$ Million Shortage Is Probed

Paris (AP)—An American and Italian were held in a Paris prison Sunday while police pressed an investigation into the alleged embezzlement of more than $1 million from the American Express Co.'s Paris office.

Martin Allen, 33, cashier of American Express, a native of Philadelphia, was charged with fraudulent misuse of the firm's funds.

Renato Grassi, 36, of Milan, Italy, was charged with complicity. The two men were understood to be friends. Grassi was a client of American Express.

George Shirey, manager of the Paris office, said he had no statement to make concerning the affair.

"We don't know yet just what we have lost and we may not know for some time," he said. "Anyway, it is all covered by insurance."

Woman Injured In 2-Car Crash

Mrs. Helen Claypool, 46, of 2440 Holdrege, was treated and released by a local hospital early Sunday after the car in which she was riding was in collision with a car driven by Arthur C. Reese, 26, of 639 So. 11 Apt. 1.

The collision occurred as the car driven by James E. Claypool, 53, of 2440 Holdrege, turned left from Holdrege into the driveway of the Claypool home.

Mrs. Claypool suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Cass County Center For Enforcement

Cass County was the center of the State Safety Patrol's selective enforcement plan activity Sunday as 6 patrol cars and an airplane covered the area between U.S. Highways 50 and 6.

As a result of the concentrated enforcement 17 arrests were made according to Capt. Dan Casey. The troopers also issued 15 warning tickets and 8 violation cards during the 4-hour period between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m.

A break-down of the arrests showed: 6 for speeding; 6 for stop sign violations; two for drunk driving and one each for no proof of ownership, no registration and no muffler.

In charge of the selective enforcement Sunday were Lt. J. E. Kruger and Sgt. John Ayers.

THE NAME WAS APT

The pilot who flew Gov. Ralph Brooks back to the United States from Puerto Rico was named Brooks Conrad.

The Governor, whose administrative assistant is Robert Conrad, was in Puerto Rico for the National Governors' Convention.

Kidnap-Rape Cases Probed In Omaha

Omaha (AP)—Omaha police were investigating two identical kidnap-rape cases Sunday.

Detective Sgt. Alfred Pattavina Jr. said one couple was parked in a car in Mandan Park early Thursday, the other couple was parked in Mandan Park early Saturday.

Both couples told of a man with a shotgun forcing his way into their cars about 1 a.m. Both were ordered to follow the same route over side roads in Sarpy County. Police said both men were locked in the trunk while the girls were assaulted, and both couples were driven back to Omaha before the assailant fled.

OAS Delegates Gathering For Meet

Santiago, Chile (AP) — The foreign ministers of the 21 American republic began arriving here for a conference on the problems of the troubled Caribbean. Word came only late Sunday that Cuba will attend.

Many believe that unless the conference of the Organization of American States opening here Wednesday takes positive measures to insure harmony, the security of the entire Western hemisphere is endangered.

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Christian Herter heads for Santiago, Chile, Monday for the inter-American foreign ministers conference.

The conference was called as a result of 3 abortive invasions in the Caribbean within the last few months.

The most controversial figure at the conference probably will be Cuban Premier Fidel Castro. After some hesitation, his government announced it will be represented at the conference by a delegation headed by Foreign Minister Raul Roa. Castro may participate at some time during the conference, an announcement in Havana said.

Cuba Accused
The bearded revolutionary leader's government has been charged with involvement in the unsuccessful invasions of the Dominican Republic, Panama and Nicaragua in recent months.

There had been speculation that Cuba might not attend the meeting because of friction between Castro's revolutionary government and leaders of some other regimes in the Caribbean.

The word that Castro may attend stirred up excitement here.

It was understood the Chilean government already is prepared to take measures to prevent any pro-Castro demonstrations from getting out of hand.

"And then you can make the comparison between East and West Berlin," he continued.

One of the sights which Zimmer talked of was a Catholic church which the group attended in Leningrad.

"The church was filled with old people," Zimmer said. "Of the 250 persons present, there were 4 young altar boys and two young girls. The rest were all elderly women."

"This stems from the fact that all children are taught atheism," Zimmer said. "And they're rather proud of the fact that they don't believe in a God."

Museums

"When a church finally has to close, they make a museum out of it," Zimmer continued. "At this time, there are only 11 active churches in Leningrad, but many times that number museums."

Other impressions the Lincolnites gained on the 10-day trip:

—There are no single-family dwellings in cities, and all new construction of homes in rural areas is of the "log-cabin" type.

—American tourists are largely conducted through the country by Intourist, a government-controlled agency. In order to take side tours or see "what they don't want you to see, you just have to get away from your guide."

Fair 'Good'

—The U.S. Fair in Moscow was a good representation of American life. The 3 cited the fact that the Russian people were allowed to touch the articles on display.

—The great interest of the people in the Fair, and their requests for tickets.

—The great amount of labor done by hand, especially by women. In one construction project, Mahoney said, women were pouring concrete, laying cement blocks and doing other forms of work usually reserved for men.

—The visit of Vice President Richard M. Nixon to Russia was poorly reported in the Russian press, and pictures of Nixon and his tour never appeared.

The 3 other members of the tour, Dr. Richard Marshall, George Frampton and Houghton Furr, will return to Lincoln later in the week.

School Blaze Toll Now 95

Chicago (AP)—The holocaust at Our Lady of the Angels parochial school last December has claimed its 95th victim.

William Eddington, 13, died in St. Anne's Hospital where he had been under treatment for critical burns since the fire. Ninety-one pupils and 3 nun instructors perished previously.

Chief Justice Off For Russian Visit

New York (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren left by plane for Moscow but said he had no plans to see Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Warren and his wife will spend 3 days in Moscow and two in Leningrad. He said they were interested in seeing the people and how they live, and also would attend the U.S. Exhibition in Moscow.

Later they will visit Germany and Denmark, returning in a month.

Chevrolet's exuberant Impala 4-Door Sedan

Chevy's the hottest one on the road

It's the hottest looking, hottest saving, hottest selling of the leading low-priced three

Have you had a taste of pure engine efficiency recently? Well, it's standard equipment in Chevrolet's lineup of eight lively V8's. These are the powerplants that recently won the NASCAR* Outstanding Achievement award for "America's most efficient V-type engines."

One, in fact, produces over one horsepower for every single cubic inch of displacement. It's the only American engine to reach such a high level of deep-breathing efficiency. But whichever Chevy powerplant you pick, you're primed for some of the perkier going you've ever enjoyed, and you'll know it for sure the moment you set your Chevrolet into silk-smooth motion.

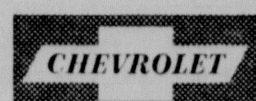

Or maybe you're looking for a tightfisted six. Well, Chevy's got just the ticket for you—the savingest six in its field. To prove its saving ways, a pair of Chevrolet sixes (equipped with Powerglide) took the first two places in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, getting top mileage of any full-sized car entered. How's that for keeping an eye on your budget!

And wait, wait till you hook up your favorite Chevy engine to one of Chevrolet's five transmissions. There are those precision stickshift gearboxes, booming in popularity among the people who look on driving as a sport. And how could you top Turboglide for an ultra-smooth automatic? We'll leave it to you to choose your favorite from the five, and don't think you won't have fun doing that!

Oh, there's a long, long list of things to like about Chevy. More room, for instance—and oil-hushed hydraulic valve lifters in every standard engine for quieter running... a bigger lined luggage compartment... bigger, safer, longer lasting brakes. Your Chevrolet dealer will be more than happy to tell you all about it. Why not make it a point to visit him soon?

It's Not The Same

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Well, it's all over—that long-awaited vacation you spent so much time thinking of and planning for. It's back now to another 11½ months of the same old thing. Or is it? Sure enough, you got up at the regular old work-day time this morning and had the usual breakfast.

It was the same morning paper you read over the coffee cup—with different stories, we hope. One thing different, you couldn't find your tie clasp after two weeks of sport shirts but a last-minute scramble turns it up—buried under a pile of the wife's earrings and other such incidentals. The stiff collar feels a little tight and the shoes are stiff compared to the canvas jobs of the past two weeks but, somehow, you kind of feel at home in them. You back out of the driveway and sure enough, there is good old Ed across the street leaving for the salt mines, too.

He happens to know a short, funny story he tells you through the car window just to start you out with a laugh. Then it's over the same old route to work. You have been traveling this route so long you know every inch of it by heart. You could drive it blindfolded, as a matter of fact. Well, you could if it weren't for idiots such as the one who just ran through that stop light.

By George, though, there is something new. They have started putting a new front on that old store and they're finally fixing that railroad crossing which has shaken you and the car up for what seems like an eternity. What's this, a new signal light—well, it's about time they did something about the death trap at this corner!

Next stop is the parking lot and naturally your absence has been interpreted as a permanent surrendering of your parking rights.

Oh well, another few weeks and you will have battled yourself back into contention for a spot. One thing hasn't changed a bit—you get pretty wet walking from the car to the office because you left your raincoat at home. Some day, you think to yourself, I'll have a raincoat for the home and one for the office. As an afterthought, though, you know it would just mean two raincoats in one place eventually instead of one.

But think of the good supply of raincoats you could get built up always trying to keep one in each place. You could even come to have a corner on the raincoat market, just in case there is ever a big rubber shortage or whatever it is they make raincoats out of now. Or, the rest of the office people could steal you blind of raincoats (they call it borrowing) and you wouldn't have to care a bit.

Such nonsensical mental meanderings as that probably explains why you just stepped in that big mud hole. A lot of good that new shine for the first day back will do you now. Dripping wet and muddy shoes—the boss will think you really squeezed the last minute out of your vacation, coming straight in from an overnight camping trip.

You hate to give him the idea right off that you aren't glad to be back but that is what they call the bitter with the sweet. But things are looking up for you as the boss isn't in yet and you will be hard at work by the time he arrives. This generally smooths things over with bosses pretty well.

The old place looks pretty good to you, at that. A little extra work may have piled up while you were gone and you will inherit a little more as the next man takes his two weeks but you feel like tackling it now, anyway. There are all the same faces you have been seeing for the past many years, the water cooler is still out of order (a good deal, since it lets you travel next door for a drink during the day) and everyone seems genuinely glad to see you. Yes, everything appears to be about the same, and yet something seems to be different.

The greetings seem friendlier, the work seems lighter, the whole atmosphere of the day is invigorating. But it's you, not everything and everyone else who has changed. Sure, you wouldn't knock a month or six months vacation but coming back gives you back your purpose in life, familiar associations and a challenge. Your absence has merely given you the realization, perhaps unconsciously, that these are things men need for sustenance.

Farm Assets At Peak

It is a dull business to dwell daily on all things that are the matter with agriculture which, indeed in its daily struggles with the price cost squeeze, warrant concern.

So for a change of pace it is good to scan the Federal Reserve Board's annual Balance Sheet of Agriculture.

The board reveals that the financial asset position of the nation's farmers last year hit the highest level in the nation's history.

At the end of 1958 the total stood at $203 billion an increase of $17 billion over 1957 and a gain over 40 per cent in the past 15 years. Total farm assets in 1953 were $89.1 billion.

The increase is mostly reflected in the rise of value of farm real estate. The operating side of farming is another story.

Farmers themselves have their special interpretation of the gain, but it is interesting to note the urban reaction as thus expressed in the New York Times.

Back To Being People

Each day of the bright new dangerous age brings news that justifies the biggest of banner lines.

There are arrangements which will bring Premier Khrushchev to this country where together with President Eisenhower a way may be found to delay or even perhaps prevent the extermination of everyone in a nuclear war.

But one must admit that it is good now-a-days to get a little news that reminds us that we are still just people and as such have not lost touch with bits of simple happiness.

One such was the announcement that good little Queen Elizabeth is going to have a baby. One doesn't often find that any more with the ruling monarchs. Families are generally complete before coronation.

But we are glad to learn that the Queen's

"It is interesting to note the size of the farmers' equity in the aforementioned $203 billion of farm values. Many of us have become accustomed to think of agriculture as predominantly of the debtor class. Yet with respect to this $203 billion, the farmers' equity is $180 billion and their indebtedness is only a little over 11 per cent. One cannot help wondering what percentage of urban residents can boast today a ratio of equities to total assets as high as this.

"The combined income statement of the farming population didn't quite keep pace with the improvement in its balance sheet—largely, no doubt, because of the fact that it didn't benefit from the boom prices prevailing in farm land. However, net income—earnings of farmer operators as well as farm labor and rentals to non-farm owners of land—enjoyed a very sizable increase over the year before, reaching a figure of $18.7 billion, a gain of 16 per cent."

upsets in Canada were not from bad health, but actually the harbingers of a blessed event. And if this new state of affairs prevents her from visiting Ghana this fall it is offset by the knowledge that Kwame Nkrumah, Ghana's prime minister, was in on the secret and was a good enough statesman to help keep it.

The other piece of news was the engagement of young Steven Rockefeller to pretty and bouncing Anne Marie Rasmussen of Norway, a story of a scion of great wealth and an erstwhile almost Cinderella housemaid.

The Cinderella angle is a little hard to make stand for Anne Marie is not a girl exactly in rags. Her father has amassed enough kroner that she can afford international travel. But it is still a good story if one wishes to look at it another way.

Vic's Hearing For The Public

Within the next few days and under pressure of an Aug. 19 deadline for a federal aid application, the Lincoln Airport Authority expects to choose between two proposed courses for developing new aviation facilities for the city. Only last week and with the ink barely dry, the two plans with preliminary cost estimates were released and three days later the public was invited to make its views known to the Authority at a public hearing.

The presented question was whether Lincoln should have a separate runway and enlarge installation adjacent to the Lincoln Air Force Base, costing some $3,755,000, or a brand-new airport some 10 miles east of downtown Lincoln, costing some $4,180,000.

Although the three-hour hearing was intended to give the public a chance to express its views on the two plans, Authority Chairman Vic Anderson seized the opportunity to lecture the public in no uncertain terms that he wanted the new airport site.

It was obvious during the hearing that the majority of views expressed by the public at the hearing favored the expansion of municipal facilities and a separate runway adjacent to the air base. It was also obvious that Chairman Vic felt himself called upon to do a one-man "selling job" at the hearing for the completely new airport.

The former governor left no doubt as to which airport he felt Lincoln should have. "I'm sorry we don't have a year to sell the public on the new airport plan. It's a big price tag (ultimately $10 million). Lincoln's aviation future lies at the east location."

Aside from the cost difference, the proponents of the airport expansion plan listed these advantages: (1) the existing airport is more accessible to downtown Lincoln and would become more so with new Interstate Highway access routes, (2) virtually no increase in noise from the Air Base location while a new noise factor would be introduced to the rapidly-expanding residential areas in East Lincoln, already only 4 miles from the proposed new airport site, (3) the present location lends itself to the existing pattern of the city's industrial, business, residential, and transportation development.

Arguments advanced for the new airport were that (1) private pilots would find it "unnerving" to share dual facilities with military aircraft even with separate traffic patterns and (2) Lincoln's future position with Strategic Air Command might be weakened by enlargement of municipal facilities near the air base.

SAC and Second Air Force have voiced no objections to the second-runway plan, but indicated final approval would be up to the U.S. Air Force and the Federal Aviation Agency.

From the advantages and disadvantages between the two plans advanced at the hearing, it would appear Lincoln's choice should be enlargement of present facilities.

Business Pushes For Labor Bill Showdown

WASHINGTON—Big business on labor lobbyists are pulling out all the stops on the House of Representatives as it approaches a showdown vote on the labor bill.

Congressmen are being button-holed by businessmen and labor leaders, deluged with letters and telegrams. The latter come chiefly from the National Association of Manufacturers and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce urging passage of the tough Landrum-Griffin bill.

Democratic Congressman John Dent of Pennsylvania, for instance, has averaged 100 letters a day, 70 per cent of the mail coming from business firms and bankers outside his coal-mining district, almost unanimously favoring the Landrum-Griffin measure. The remaining 20 per cent, from his own constituents, overwhelmingly opposes the restrictive bill.

Most big corporations don't show their hand in Congress, though some including General Electric Corp., Western Electric, and the Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp., sign their names to telegrams. General Electric lobbyists also made phone calls to some congressmen.

One of the most active U.S. Chamber of Commerce lobbyists has been Jack Reich, executive vice president of the Indiana Chamber. Reich put the pressure on Indiana congressmen and even attended a hearing by the House Rules Committee, at which the labor bills were discussed.

Though they showed up a little late, Capitol Hill also has been as warm with AFL-CIO lobbyists opposing the Landrum-Griffin bill. In a desperate effort to offset the NAM-chamber lobby, AFL-CIO President George Meany summoned union officials from a number of states in order to get support for a bill sponsored by Rep. Jack Shelley of California aimed primarily at stopping racketeering without interfering with the basic rights of union members.

Speaker Sam Rayburn also was working feverishly against the anti-labor Landrum-Griffin bill. He made individual appeals to 30 of more doubtful House members from the South and Midwest, urging their support for Congressman Elliott's anti-racketeering bill, which was approved by the House Education and Labor Committee.

The speaker frankly informed Shelley: "I disagree with this legislation you are sponsoring, Jack, but I will help you all I can to get it to the House floor for a vote. You and your associates have a right to that, though I doubt that you can win. I also think you have performed a service in helping to open up a full debate of this labor reform issue."

Nixon's Nomination Seems In The Bag

WASHINGTON—While politics is a trade beset with more uncertainties than most, it is the considered opinion of politicians of both parties here that Vice-President Richard Nixon has the presidential nomination for 1960 all but cinched.

Political observers, taking it more or less for granted that he has the nomination, will be looking in the weeks ahead to another index. They will want to see how Nixon runs against the leading Democratic candidates in the poll takers' samples. Recently a Stevenson-Kennedy ticket was matched against a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket and the result was 53 per cent for the Democrats and 42 for the Republicans with only 5 per cent undecided.

This shook many Republicans, including the national chairman, Sen. Thurston B. Morton. What is more, during the governors' conference at Puerto Rico, New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Nixon's only serious challenger, said that he would not accept second place on a Nixon ticket.

Unquestionably, a distrust of Nixon has persisted. It has been particularly strong among minority groups. In part the feeling goes back to the tactics he used in his California and then later as the man wielding the hatchet while President Eisenhower travelled the lofty road of national appeal.

Whether the image—a word transposed from Madison Avenue and used increasingly in a political context—is newly focussed in a clear, constructive fashion is the question that may be answered in forthcoming polls.

Wonders Of The Universe

A training program in space for our astronauts is the new and radical suggestion made by J. R. Dempsey, a vice president of Convair division of General Dynamics. He believes that before man is ready for the conquest of space it will be necessary for him to spend many hours in orbit around the earth being indoctrinated in the demands of the new field.

Mr. Dempsey points out a basic problem. At this time we know about space only by extrapolations. As an example, we measure how much radiation is near the earth and try to compute how much there will be far from the earth. We count meteors and try to compute their density in space. We measure the atmosphere at 100 miles and try to define the limits of the atmosphere. At best these are but educated guesses. Only when man gets into space will he be in the position of discovering what lies out there, and only after being in space will he be able to intelligently plan future activities.

When the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) chose the astronauts for the Mercury project they picked pilots who had a minimum of 1500 hours of flying time. This was the first step. In addition to the flying time, these men have started a long and rigorous training program in preparation for short flights in manned capsules. Some of these flights in ballistic missiles will last no longer than five minutes.

After these astronauts prove they can get into space and return safely, the next phase of the program will begin. Orbiting vehicles at relatively low altitudes, below 300 miles to avoid the lethal radiation belts, will carry personnel around the earth in permanent satellites. Men ferried to these space stations can be put through an extensive training program to test their ability to live and work in the weird weightless environment of space. They will also conduct tests on the equipment which not only houses them, but which furnishes a livable atmosphere and temperature control. Weightlessness will be the most critical of the preparations for this cannot be simulated on earth for any length of time; it requires the subject to be in space.

Many have inquired as to what training must be given to our astronauts after they get into space to fit them for trips through the solar system. Mr. Dempsey believes that at least 500 hours of orbital training is necessary to qualify the astronaut for a simple lunar flight. Before undertaking a mission to Venus or Mars perhaps 4,000 hours of mixed orbital and lunar training should be experienced. These estimates he considers conservative. It takes 500 flight hours merely to qualify a B-59 pilot.

Mr. Dempsey also indicates that if an artificial gravity is provided in the satellite and we are to have the men live at say 1-10th g (1-10th the force of gravity on the surface of the earth), who can foresee what equipment will be best for the subjects? The only way to get the basic answers to these questions it to put a man out there and begin a systematic study of the prevailing conditions.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: WHAT PRACTICAL STEPS CAN BE TAKEN BY AN INTELLIGENT AND ORGANIZED SOCIETY TO CUT DOWN DRASTICALLY ON SEX CRIMES?

The purpose of this column is to inform and sometimes entertain by presenting a cross-section of the viewpoint of the general public and to give anyone an opportunity to express himself on any subject. Flag Display

Recently our capital city was host to the annual state convention of the American Legion. This was a distinct honor to entertain this great patriotic group. Every patriotic citizen was host along with the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans, Purple Heart and Spanish American War veterans, Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' Association, and all civic fraternal and religious organizations. I am sure that in most ways the legionnaires were made welcome and am reasonably sure quite a sum of money was spent by the visitors in Lincoln during the three days of the convention.

There was a very nice parade with post colors and our very own American flag in line of march, some flags with 48 stars and some with 49 stars. Incidentally, any American flag, regardless of the number of stars, may properly be displayed until worn out and then should be burned.

The object of this article is to point out what I consider neglect on the part of our merchants and hotels in not displaying Old Glory on the front of their places of business. What can possibly be wrong with our otherwise public-spirited citizens? Why does not this fine city show a little spark of appreciation because we live in the finest land on earth?

I feel sure that flags would have been displayed if our active veterans organizations had combined their efforts in reminding our fine merchants to display flags in honor of our country and this great patriotic organization, the American Legion, of which every veteran honorably discharged may be a member.

On the day of the parade, we stood on the corner of 13th and O Streets. As far as we could see up and down the O Street line of march, only one flag was in evidence—on a flag pole atop one of our banks.

The greater part of the members of the Disabled American Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are also members of the American Legion and all would be happy to co-operate in any patriotic demonstration or other event for the public interest.

All of us need to wake up to the importance of flag display—the emblem of our American way of life.

Death Penalty

Lincoln, Neb.
What in heaven's name is the matter with a society that will allow sex perverts who are acknowledged and known offenders to roam at will about our countryside? Nothing is done about them until something terrible happens. Then they are rounded up, checked out, and turned loose again. A community is up in arms for a short while after such an occurrence, then feeling subsides, until it happens again.

The solution must start with a revision of our laws themselves, which are sadly lacking in provision for dealing with such undesirable. We have laws that take care of the most ridiculous and insignificant matters, but which will allow these maniacs to wander about at will.

We call ourselves educated and civilized. The most primitive tribes had their own quick justice for violations of this kind. So which is the more civilized? I'm no rabble-rouser, neither am I a parent, but in the case of known violations of this sort and confession on the part of the violator, I would most certainly and without hesitation favor the death penalty. A few states do have the death penalty. Let's add Nebraska to the list.

High Taxes

Lincoln, Neb.

Why is everyone against a sales tax when it is the most legitimate tax there is? The only ones who do not benefit are the merchants who have to handle it. It lets everyone pay his share, whereas now there are many who do not pay any tax and still can spend more money than a lot of people make in a year. It really does not pay for a person to own property, unless it is as an investment, when a person's home is taxed about two dollars a day just for the state and county tax. It does not behoove the average person to own a home in this city.

I think if the sales tax matter was put up to a vote of the people, it surely would go over. Omaha is the one that is fighting it hard because Omaha draws business from Council Bluffs. Instead of raising so many salaries, it would help the average person a lot more to have his taxes where he could afford to own a home, and it would be a better city in which to live. I am just a salesman and cannot afford to pay around $500 a year just to own my own home here, as there is more expense than just owning it. It costs a lot to keep it up. I have people living in Iowa and their taxes are not so high that they cannot afford to own their home.

I am a Star reader and I think it should fight a little to help its customers.

A TAXPAYER

Search For Stability

Lincoln, Neb.
Is Lincoln ever going to settle down into any degree of permanency so that a person may know where to light and how to make some plans for his own and his family's future? The people who live up and down J and K Streets are now in a midst of seeing what little remains of their front lawns being plowed up, fine trees destroyed, many of the homes themselves torn down, all for the sake of more speeding off both ways to nowhere. A year or two ago, many fine homes had to sacrifice their lawns on Normal Boulevard for traffic and more traffic. Many owners have left their homes there since the value of the property was diminished and the desirability to each individual owner considerably lessened by the cutback. How is a person going to know where to build or buy?

Now they are haggling over an airport location, and many more of us are up in the air, wondering what is to become of our property and what is to become of us and our families. We have children to raise and provide for, and we must make plans with some degree of assurance that these plans are not going to be constantly shattered by a city's whims.

Where must we turn for is in other locations and other towns?

Herbert Hoover, now marking his 85th birthday, is shown as he looks today and as he looked when he was the Republican Party's presidential nominee in 1928.

Keeping Busy Best Formula For Old Age, Hoover Says

... Former President Marks 85th Birthday

New York (AP)—At 85, Herbert Hoover has one word for the secret of longevity and health:

"Work."

"I have not retired," says the former President, who Monday will spend his birthday at his desk.

"Those who retire without some occupation spend their time talking about their ills and pills."

Half-Dozen Jobs

Hoover says he still has 6 jobs to do—ranging from writing a 3-volume book to being of occasional service to his country.

Whatever his formula, only two former Presidents lived as long. James Madison died at 85, John Adams at 90.

Ruddy-faced, white-haired, healthy-looking and amiable, Hoover met the press in a pre-birthday news conference and discussed an array of topics, from Khrushchev's visit to Stengel's Yankees.

Airs Visit Views

Hoover, one of a succession of Presidents who refused to recognize the Soviet Union, reiterated his hope that the exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would lead to a lessening of world tensions.

He said the coming visit of Khrushchev to the U.S. could win him "immortality among the leaders of all men."

"But this is unlikely to be the result of this visit," Hoover added.

Gift Of Peace

He said Khrushchev could bring with him "the greatest, most generous gift which mankind has received in a thousand years," adding that he meant the gift of real peace after 40 years of death and destruction.

"He could interpret his oft-repeated statement as to peaceful co-existence," Hoover said, "as eliminating all international demands, all warnings, all threats, and all conspiracies against free people."

Books To Baseball

Hoover, who takes 3 secretaries with him even when he goes fishing, listed his 6 jobs as follows:

1. "Watching the dangers which surround our country hoping to be of occasional service."
2. Writing—in longhand—3 documented volumes under the title, "An American Epic," to show that the American people have without repayment furnished food and supplies that have saved the lives of nearly 1½ billion people in the past 45 years.
3. Attending to the affairs of the Boys' Clubs of America—526 clubs with 600,000 members, mostly in slum areas.
4. Building up the library on war, revolution and peace at Stanford University.
5. Serving as chairman or trustee for about a dozen institutions.
6. Attending baseball games.

What is wrong with Casey Stengel's Yankees that they have fallen so low in the league standings?

"I wouldn't want to express any criticism," he said, "they have the material and they can come back."

NY Plans '64 World's Fair

New York (AP)—Plans are under consideration to hold a world's fair in 1964 to celebrate the 306th anniversary of the founding of New York City, Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced.

The proposed theme of the fair is "Peace Through Understanding."

The last New York City world's fair was held in 1939-40. It brought the city more than a billion dollar's worth of extra business.

DELAPLANE'S

The American girl who handed Mr. Khrushchev a bottle of Pepsi-Cola and shook his hand is Miss Debbie Kopp of Arlington, Va. Mr. Khrushchev seemed pleased and possibly Debbie unfroze the cold war a little. (The special bottle of Pepsi was bottled in New York—not at the American exhibition where they are passing out Moscow-made Pepsi free.)

We cannot find out whether Mr. K. drank the Pepsi. I asked one of the Russian girl interpreters. But she just gave me a freezing look.

Anyway, he smiled at Debbie and shook hands very warmly—"I was thrilled," she said. We may have struck a blow for peace. Who knows?

We had lunch with Miss Kopp yesterday in the dining room of the Hotel Ukraina.

She is 19 and is a junior at Wellesley College.

She is blonde, 5 feet, 6 inches, weighs 120 and is trying to get down to 118. She has a "wiffle" haircut—that is the word, "wiffle." She wears a lipstick called "Painting the Town Pink."

Talk about your intimate reporting!

Last night she was at an Azerbaijan restaurant and a man came up to her and said: "Are you a Moslem?"

Debbie said she was not.

The man said seriously: "That is too bad. If you were a Moslem, I would give 50 cows for you. That is what you are worth to me—50 cows!"

Debbie was surprised, but, I think, flattered at that. Nobody had ever appraised her in terms of cows before. And a good many Texas fortunes were started with smaller herds.

Miss Kopp got to Moscow because she studied Russian two years at Wellesley. She gets $16 a day in the Pepsi-Cola booth.

"When you tell Russians you get $16 a day, they say: 'Impossible!' They just don't believe me."

The resident correspondents here tell me Russian girls never go out with men from the West. In fact, there are little roving, volunteer bands of the Young Communist League prowling the town and rebuking anyone who falls off the Party ladder.

Recently they found a Russian girl at dinner with several French movie actors. They took her to the police station where her name was taken down.

This embargo on Boy Meets Girl does not seem to apply to Russian men. And Debbie has been out with several of them. She reports they are perfect gentlemen. Almost to the point of prudishness.

"They are very polite and just want to talk to you about sports and school studies and things like that. They want to show you Moscow and can't do enough for you."

Even so, Debbie and other girls at the Fair double date just in case.

"One funny thing," says Debbie: "they want to carry your pocketbook for you. I was sort of nervous about it at first. But now we're used to it."

A few of the things she has learned have to do with "nye kulturni."

The Russians are bugged by certain things they say are "not cultured."

"They don't think a girl should smoke in public," said Debbie.

The other day she was riding on a bus and licking stamps to put on postcards.

"The bus driver saw me and stopped the bus. He was terribly upset. He said 'Nye kulturni!' Not cultured! You don't lick stamps in Russia, ever."

At the Pepsi-Cola booth, Debbie is offered seven or eight dates a day. One of the American picture magazines is doing a story on her. "American girl shops around Moscow"—that sort of thing.

The only thing she has been able to find (like most American tourists who find this a poor shopping place—is one of those sheep's-wool Astrakhan hats.

She bought it for her father, who can cut quite a figure in i around Arlington, Va. While Debbie tells how much she is worth in cows.

Candlelight Service

MRS. CLIFTON RAY SMITH

The chancel of the Second Presbyterian Church was lighted by white candles and appointed with bouquets of white gladioli on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 9, for the wedding of Miss Shirley Gwendolyn Usher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe H. Usher, and Clifton Ray Smith, son of Mrs. Otto F. Smith of Powell, Wyo. The 4 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Arthur Soundy of Greeley, Colo., grandfather of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Willard Lampe of Beatrice.

Miss Jan Elrod of Omaha was the maid of honor; Miss Shirley Thompson of Cedar Rapids, Ia., the bridesmaid; and Mrs. Richard Beatty, Laramie, Wyo., the bridesmatron.

Serving his brother as best man was Dick Smith of Powell, and the ushers were Arthur Nyquist of Laramie;

Monroe Usher, Jr., John Usher and Douglas Usher, brothers of the bride.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white Chantilly lace and silk taffeta. The long-sleeved bodice of lace was designed with a portrait neckline, and the wide skirt was completed at the back by a cascade of lace tiers beneath a pouf bustle of the taffeta which extended into a train.

Following a wedding trip to Canada and the Pacific northwest, the couple will reside at Powell, Wyo. Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Hastings College where she is a member of Pi Alpha Lambda sorority and Alpha Psi Omega honorary. The bridegroom attended the University of Wyoming and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Coed Is August Bride

MRS. NORVAL L. MCCASLIN

The marriage of Miss Barbara Ann Vahle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vahle of Alma, to Norval L. McCaslin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland McCaslin of Broken Bow, was solemnized Sunday afternoon, Aug. 9, at the First Christian Church. White chrysanthemums and pink gladioli formed the background for the candlelight service, which was read by the Rev. Robert Baker, minister of the First Christian Church at Phillipsburg, Kan.

Frocked in white silk organza embroidered in a floral motif and fashioned in the daytime length were Mrs. Curtis Morgan of Ericson, who was her sister's matron of honor; the bridesmaids, Miss Anne White of Goodland, Kan., and Miss Linda Forch of Stratton; and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Janet Sims, Alma.

Richard Terp of Overland Park, Kan., served as best man, and the ushers were Larry Stevenson, Orleans; Gary Loyd, John Dietz and Harold McCaslin, Broken Bow; Merrill Walkup, York; and Larry Fisher, Comstock. Scott Morgan, Ericson, and Donald McCaslin, Broken Bow, carried the rings.

The bride's gown of white imported French lace and silk organza was designed in the Empire mode. The sculptured basque of lace was highlighted by a Sabrina neckline and long, fitted sleeves, and the slim waist was emphasized by soft folds of the organza ending in a back bow beneath which the skirt flared widely, continuing into a chapel train.

Mr. and Mrs. McCaslin will make their home at Eagle. A member of Kappa Delta sorority, the bride is a student at the University of Nebraska, of which Mr. McCaslin is a graduate. He is a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma fraternity.

NEWS OF SUBURBIA Mary Dieterich, Bride

PERSHING HEIGHTS

The talcum powder set in Pershing Heights has a new member. She is Lori Jo Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Shields of 2901 No. 65th St. who arrived on July 30 at Bryan Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Shields was the former Edna Lakoduk.

Far away, but eager to meet their new granddaughter are the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Shields of Ontario, Wis., and the maternal grandfather, Joe Lakoduk of Minot, N.D. The Shields' have three other children, Jody Ann, 7, Kelly John, 4, and Kevin George, 1½.

Seeing the Queen of England was the highlight of the vacation taken by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Vaughn and their three sons, Bob, Ken, and Bill. The Vaughn family spent two weeks traveling over quite a bit of territory on their trip, including Manitou Springs, Colo. and Win-nepeg, Canada. They spent a few days in Winnipeg at the home of Mrs. Vaughn's mother, Mrs. A. Cooper. While in Canada, they saw Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

COTNER TERRACE

Newest member of the young set in Cotner Terrace is David Lee Sabalka, who arrived July 30 at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sabalka of 2800 No. Cotner. Mrs. Sabalka was Rosemary McMahon.

Ardent admirers of their new little brother are Elizabeth Ann, Mary Catherine, Barbara Sue, Janice, Thomas, and Timmy. The proud grandmothers are Mrs. J. T. McMahon of Beattie, Kan. and Mrs. Louis Sabalka of Blair.

Talked to the stork and found out about another new resident in Cotner Terrace. He is Graig Lind Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson of 5210 Gladstone, and he arrived July 25 at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Linde Nelson of Oakland, and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Brier of DeWitt. Mrs. Nelson was formerly Deanna Brier.

Babies are really in the headlines! Another new arrival in Cotner Terrace is David Hub Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hall of 1710 No. 70, who was born Aug. 2nd at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Anxiously awaiting the arrival of their little brother at home are Marcia, 8, Jeffrey, 6, and Kathy, 3. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hall of Council Bluffs, Ia. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Vandeventer, also of Council Bluffs. Mrs. Hall is the former Patricia Bangs.

Returning recently from a vacation in Kendall, Wis. were Mr. and Mrs. Pierre G. Pollard and their four sons, Richard, Ronald, Robert, and Roger. They visited Mrs. Pollard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Tunks, and Mr. Pollard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Pollard. They were gone a little over two weeks.

MRS. ROGER NEIL SCHINDLER

Cathedral candles and arrangements of white gladioli formed the background for the wedding of Miss Mary Lillian Dieterich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil B. Dieterich of Omaha, formerly of Lincoln, and Roger Neil Schindler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber A. Schindler, which took place on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 9, at the First Presbyterian Church in Lincoln. Dr. C. Vin White solemnized the 4 o'clock ceremony, and Miss Grace Finch played the wedding music. Lester H. Rumbaugh was the vocal soloist.

Princess frocks of hyacinth blue organza over taffeta were chosen for the attendants including Miss Lynne Meyers, the maid of honor; bridesmaids, Miss Judy Haneman, Miss Mary Jane Coe of Wakefield, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Martha Jean Dieterich of Omaha. With their costumes they wore brow veils of hyacinth blue, held with small headbands, and carried crescent bouquets of white carnations. Deborah Ann Dieterich was the flower girl.

Darrel L. Schindler of Wilmington, Del., served his brother as best man, and the guests were seated by Neil Dieterich, brother of the bride, Douglas Dieterich both of Omaha; Bruce Wendorff, Andris Matisons and Frank Faires.

The bride appeared in a gown of peau de soie. The long-sleeved, sculptured bodice was designed with a shoulder-wide, rounded neckline framed with re-embroidered lace in a leaf motif. The re-embroidered lace also patterned the extremely voluminous skirt which extended into a chapel train. Pearls ornamented the peau de sole cap held in place her finger tip veil, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to Chicago Mr. Schindler and his bride will reside at 3327 So. 40th St., Lincoln.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta, and Mr. Schindler is attending the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Theta Xi, and of Gamma Lambda of which he is serving as president.

Double Ring Wedding

MRS. LEWIS HINKLEY

Miss Mary Otto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Otto, became the bride of Lewis Hinkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elden Hinkley, at a 3 o'clock ceremony solemnized on Sunday, Aug. 9. The altar of the First Lutheran Church was appointed with all-white gladioli and lighted white candles for the service, which was read by the Rev. Theodore Johnson, and Miss Sara Orr, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied the vocal soloist, Harley Otto, brother of the bride.

Miss Marian Johnson of Ceresco, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmatrons, Mrs. Ron Young and Mrs. Jack Furrow, wore full-skirted frocks of French blue embroidered tulle. They carried fans of white gladioli. Mrs. Gary Portschke and Miss Dorothy Glade lighted the chancel candles, and the flower girl was Miss Diane Guerry.

Serving as best man was Lloyd Hinkley, and seating the guests were E. F. Guerry and Richard Harmon. Danny Otto and Gary Hinkley carried the rings.

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of imported Chantilly lace smoothed over ice blue satin. The long-sleeved bodice was fashioned with a V neckline, edged with natural scallops of the lace, and the wide skirt, which was shirred into back fullness was bordered by a deep flounce of crystal-pleated tulle and extended into a train. A pillbox cap of matching lace encrusted with pearls and sequins held her illusion veil, and she carried a white Bible marked with a white orchid.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Lake Okoboji, Ia., the couple will reside in Lincoln. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mrs. Hinkley is a member of Towne Club. The bridegroom is a former student at the University.

At a 10 o'clock ceremony on Saturday morning, Aug. 8, the marriage of Miss Sandra Jane Catron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Catron, to John H. Hoppe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin E. Hoppe, was solemnized at St. Mary's Cathedral. Arrangements of white pom-poms formed the background for the service which was read by the Rev. John Flynn.

Miss Sandra Whalen, the maid of honor; the bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Carey and Miss Davida Zolot and bridesmatrons, Mrs. Ronald Kasteck and Mrs. Duane Steffen appeared in alike frocks of iridescent taffeta in the apricot tone. They completed their costumes with frock-toned picture hats and carried bouquets of bronze pom-poms.

Robin Snider served Mr. Hoppe as best man, and the ushers included Gil Jones, Harold Johnson, John Branch Walton and Robert Stien.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white silk organza over taffeta. The briefly-sleeved bodice narrowed to a slender waist where a pouf bustle accented the silk embroidered back panel that extended to the hem of the bouffant, floor-length skirt. A jeweled crown held in place her waist-length veil, and she carried a bouquet of white pom-poms.

MRS. KENNETH EARL HANNEMAN

The marriage of Miss Paula Cain, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Nell Cain, to Kenneth Earl Hanneman, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Hanneman, took place at a 7 o'clock ceremony on Sunday evening, Aug. 9, at the United Lutheran Church. The Rev. H. G. Knaub solemnized the service, and the wedding music was played by Richard Knaub. Rex Miller was the vocal soloist.

The attendants, Mrs. John I. Madsen of Long Beach, Calif., the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Trudy Cain and Miss Connie Jean Hanneman were frocked alike in white cotton satin, designed in daytime length. They completed their costumes with white picture hats, and they carried bouquets of red rosebuds and feathered white carnations. Miss Kathy Sue Hanneman and Richard Wolfe lighted the candles, and Linda Wolfe was the flower girl. David Watermeier was the ring-bearer.

Kenneth Reynolds served as best man, and seating the guests were Gary Salzman and Donald Welch. The bride appeared in a gown of embroidered white silk organzine over taffeta. A ruching of lace trimmed the rounded neckline and the short sleeves of the Empire bodice beneath which the skirt was exceedingly bouffant.

Following a reception in the church parlors Mr. Hanneman and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to the Black Hills. Upon their return they will reside at 4611 Cleveland.

New Arrival

Talked to the stork and found out about another new little Nelson in Cotner Terrace. He is Craig Lind Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson of 5210 Gladstone, and he arrived July 25 at Bryan Memorial Hospital. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Linde Nelson of Oakland, and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Brier of De Witt. Mrs. Nelson was formerly Deanna Brier.

Announcing her wedding date this morning is Miss Janet Elizabeth Gordon. The marriage of Miss Gordon and George John Wolcott, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wolcott of Lincoln, will be an event of Saturday, Aug. 29, in Springfield, Mass.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized in the south chapel of the Springfield Congregational Church, the bride-elect has named Miss Susan Kuehn of Wilberham, Mass., as the maid of honor. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Milly Mary Wolcott will be the vocal soloist.

John Voll of Mound, Minn., will serve Mr. Wolcott as best man and seating the guests for the 2:30 o'clock ceremony will be Daniel Plant of Springfield, Mass.; Robert Rudolph of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Clark Gordon of West Simsbury, Conn., the bride-elect's brother; and John Kossler, Jr., of Alexandria, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and their daughter plan to leave for Springfield on Aug. 27.

August bride-elect, Miss Sharon Scott, and her fiancé, Larry Roy, will be married on Saturday, Aug. 29, at Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Ravenna.

Included among Miss Scott's attendants will be Miss Janis Roy, the maid of honor; Miss Yvonne Gressley, the bridesmaid, and Mrs. Dal Hehnke, the bridesmatron.

Serving as best man will be Robert Roy of Ravenna. The corps of ushers will include Lyman Cass, Jr., of Ravenna; Charles Roy of Beaumont, Calif.; Jim Roy of Bellflower, Calif.; and Dal Hehnke of Lincoln.

Plan LWC Activity

MRS. M. W. MUTSCHLER

One of the most interesting and active departments of the Lincoln Woman's Club is the music department which this year will be headed by Mrs. M. W. Mutschler as leader.

The group meets for regular rehearsals during the winter months and the year's plans also include special programs and social activities, which will begin on Sept. 15, with a reception at the club house.

On Nov. 17, a special Thanksgiving program will be held, and the department's Christmas party has been planned for Dec. 15. Feb. 16 has been set aside for the group's project program.

Besides Mrs. Mutschler, department officers include Dr. Maude R. Bell, assistant leader, and Mrs. A. F. Pantner, secretary-treasurer. Mrs.

MRS. HARTLEY ANDERSON

M. E. Rolfmeyer will represent the group on the club's ways and means committee. Miss Vera Upton will serve as director, and the accompanist will be Miss Helen Boyce.

Department committees include: telephone, Dr. Bell, Mrs. J. J. Hadley; project, Mrs. L. T. Shirk, Mrs. Pantner, Mrs. Rolfmeyer; community service, Mrs. James H. Pine, Miss Phyllis Straub, Mrs. Arthur Stevenson; social, Mrs. R. W. Jackson, Mrs. C. W. Walgreen, Mrs. F. F. Schwedhelm.

Officers of the evening lecture group are completing plans for the department's programs for the coming year, and have announced that an innovation this year will be the informal dinners preceding the lectures.

Members wishing to attend the lectures, only, may do so.

The dinners will begin at 6:30 o'clock followed by the programs at 7:30 o'clock.

To inaugurate their season, the members will hold a banquet on Sept. 28, at which time the featured speaker will be Gov. Ralph G. Brooks. On Oct. 6, a banquet and program will be given at which former governor Victor Anderson, will address the group.

Later in October, on the 29, the group will hold a dinner featuring traditional Jewish dishes.

The Rev. Steve Prodromides will speak to the group the evening of Nov. 10.

Other programs will be announced at a later date by Mrs. Hartley Anderson, leader of the group. Mrs. Frank Johnson is assistant leader, and secretary-treasurer is Mrs. Nelson Walker.

Under the direction of Mrs. H. E. McCormick, project chairman, the group will continue its community service for the Indian families of Lincoln.

Mrs. Frank Johnson will represent the group on the club's ways and means committee, and department committees will include: reception, Mrs. Ray C. Johnson, Mrs. J. Lloyd McMaster, Miss Delpha Taylor, Mrs. W. J. Steer, Mrs. Jensen Hastings; telephone, Miss Daisy Goldsberry, Mrs. Huldah Ham, Miss Grace Hauschild, Mrs. Perry Colbert; social, Mrs. E. W. Dear Abby . . .

Once Burnt, Twice Shy!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What would you think of a married man who would take another man's wife and travel through eleven states with her and pass her off as his wife? That's what my husband did.

I married this man seven years ago. I took his two babies by a previous marriage, when they were 11 and 22 months old. I worked every day I was married to him to help meet our bills.

When he pulled this trick, I divorced him. Now he is back begging me to remarry him. His sister, who has been married five times, keeps his kids. I feel sorry for the kids, but I don't think I could ever trust him again. What would you do, Abby?

LAURA
DEAR LAURA: Don't marry a man because you "feel sorry" for his children. Marry him only because you love him and want to share your life with him. He is not worthy of you.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 12-year-old boy and I have an uncle who is 18. Well, my mother makes me call him, "Sir." Like, "Yes, Sir," and "No, Sir." I feel like a nitwit. Please help me.

NITWIT
DEAR NIT: Your mother is trying to teach you to be respectful. Since this young man is your uncle, it seems to me that you'd be showing him ample respect by addressing him as "Uncle So and So." But be sure to clear this with your mother first. Mothers outrank Uncles, Sir!

DEAR ABBY: My son recently married a very nice girl. The only thing I have against her is that she can't cook.

She gives him chile and barbecue every night in the week. For lunch she warms up the barbecue they had for supper the night before.

Barbecued beef, chicken or ribs are all right once in a while but, Abby, she is killing my son with all that hot stuff. I don't want to be one of those butting-in mothers-in-law, but how can I save my son? His stomach must be on fire by now. Love,

MOM
DEAR MOM: Perhaps that's all the poor girl knows how to cook. Stop stewing and broiling and teach your daughter how to.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a 4-year-old boy who is still on the bottle. I can't seem to break him. I have tried everything, including spanking him, but he won't go to sleep unless I give him his bottle.

I am so embarrassed when my friends come and see me filling bottles and sterilizing nipples. Is it unhealthy to let the boy continue on the bottle? I'm afraid he won't get enough milk if I make him drink from a cup. Can any of your readers help me?

BOTTLE PROBLEM
DEAR B.P.: A four-year-old who "needs" his bottle could be suffering from an emotional problem. Discuss it with your doctor.

DEAR ABBY: When I came home from college for Christmas vacation (I am working on my Master's Degree) I fell in love with a hired hand who works on our turkey ranch. He has only an Eighth Grade education. Do you think the difference in our education and background will bring us trouble later on if we marry? My parents are very much against the match because they think I am lowering myself. The romance has gone much further than anyone suspects and I am considering marrying him. Could we be happy?

IN LOVE
DEAR IN: How old are you? How old is he? What else (besides "love") have you in common? Get to know him better and think it over carefully or you will spend the rest of your life talking turkey.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Nebraskan Tours Hong Kong

EDITOR'S NOTE—Mrs. William H. Hasebrook of West Point describes Hong Kong in her letter series to The Lincoln Star during the club women's tour of the Far East.

Our drive into the city and the modern air-conditioned Peninsula Hotel revealed circumstances we could not see from the air. The white of the office buildings is not the same shade of the squatters' homes hidden on the mountain side among the foliage. The sight is heart-rending and the frightening circumstances causing it is even more alarming.

We have our beggars back home and those needing alms in Nebraska but they are rich compared to these unfortunate people. Brown-skinned children, shabbily dressed at best and not infrequently completely nude, were everywhere—at the hotel entrance, in the shopping area—and soon fill your heart and mind. If a coin is given one, you are besieged by others who mushroom from nowhere. Pathetic mothers, each with a child strapped on her small back, tear at your heart with their upraised and open hands. They are pared down to a thin, fineboned frame, but graceful in their quick movements. What can you do? Our guide told us not to give them alms, but we were tempted to slip them a coin when he wasn't looking. At times I think he purposely looked the other way.

But the giving of coins will not solve their problem. They need a purpose in life, but the constant inrush of refugees from Red China together with the embargo against Red China goods allows them no chance. Circumstances create a vicious circle.

When Red China pressured her people into slave labor, those opposed to the regimentation tried to get out. Both legal and "wet-back" methods were practiced. The influx became so overpowering that five years ago the Hong Kong government, through taxes, built five refugee areas. The largest is twelve blocks long, four units wide and eight stories high. It is estimated that 50,000 people live there—170,000 in all five quarters in the city of Kowloon, alone. A large family has one room, and often, three smaller families crowd into one room. One communal bathroom and kitchen is supplied for one unit of eight stories.

But this is heaven compared to what they are forced to live with in their native land. The difficult, long procedure to secure papers for legal entry, when once granted, is followed by families frequently being separated at the border by the Red Chinese and only a small portion allowed to pass.

Having visited other places in recent weeks, we find ourselves comparing conditions. In Japan, people were crowded together, but almost all had individual living quarters. Here, squatters on the mountain sides with ramshackle huts built of scraps of wood, cardboard, corrugated iron, even tarpaulins, are lucky to be alone. In the city, a refugee family is grateful to have a corner of a room.

In Japan, the wide adoption of western dress was most apparent, but in Hong Kong, the residents are rightfully proud to wear their native costume. It consists of trousers and a blouse for both men and women; and for some women, the tight sheath dress with the skirt slit to five or six inches above the knees.

But these tiny women are seen doing heavy labor. From our tenth story balcony window we can watch progress on the building just below us. Because the city is growing so fast, construction is constantly going on. With so many people needing work, the use of machinery is restricted if the work can be done by hand.

Arapahoe Dedicates New Lutheran Church

Lincoln Star Special
Arapahoe, Neb. — The new $25,000 Peace American Lutheran Church was dedicated here Sunday.

Some 400 attended the dedication ceremonies, according to the Rev. Gilbert Mueller of Lexington, present pastor.

Dr. E. G. Fritschel of Denver, president of the Central District of the American Lutheran Synod was guest speaker at the morning service.

Pastor John Northwall of Hebron, previous pastor of the Smithfield and Arapahoe churches, was speaker at the afternoon program.

The congregation was organized in 1957.

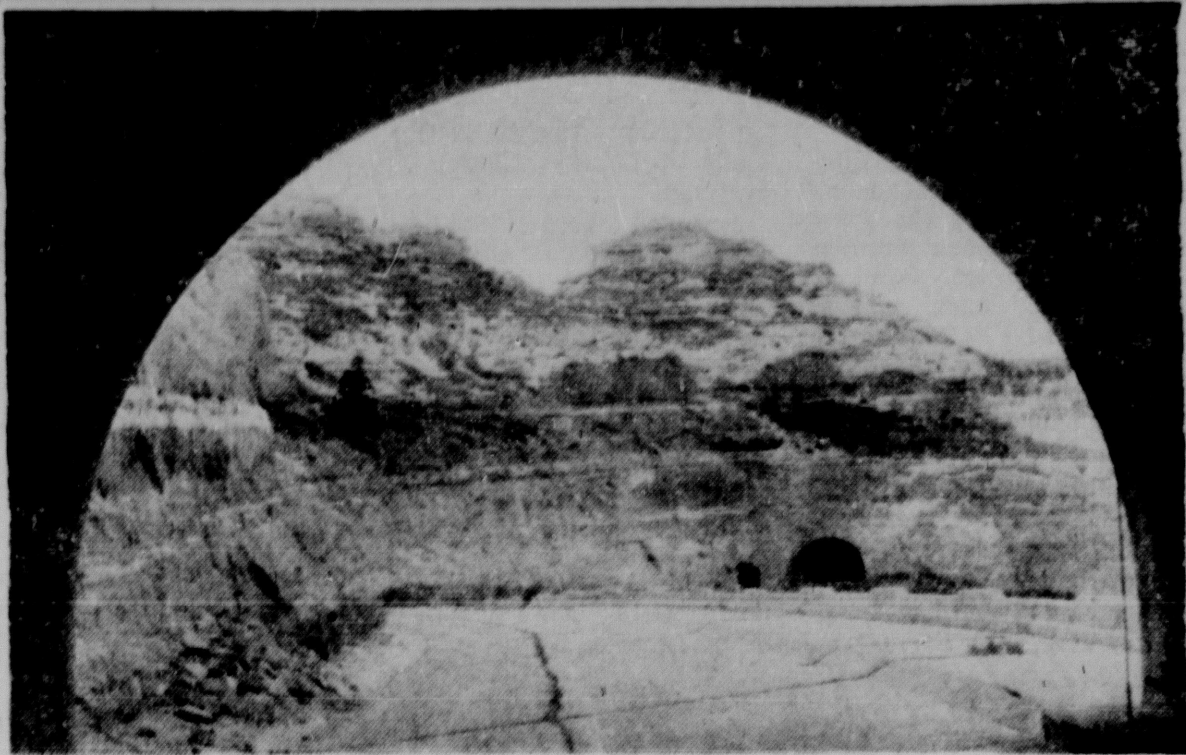

The Municipal Building here was used as the meeting place until March of this year, when the congregation began worship services in the Community Church.

The building, measuring 36x54, is a wood and brick structure that will seat 100. Ground was broken last fall.

REA Approves Loan To Hickman Company

Hickman, Neb. — The Rural Electrification Assn. has approved a $220,000 loan to the Capitol Telephone Co. of Hickman to finance improved telephone service for 331 subscribers, and initial service to 32, primarily in Cass County.

Some service will be in fringe areas of Lancaster and Otoe Counties.

Huge Cleanup Task Finished At Schuyler

... Train Derailed

Schuyler, Neb. — The Union Pacific Railroad said both main lines were back in service Sunday following the derailment Saturday night of 24 cars of an eastbound freight.

There were no injuries. Railroad officials said cause of the derailment has not yet been determined.

Traffic on both east and west lines was rerouted until Sunday afternoon. The mishap occurred at the west edge of Schuyler.

Ten of the cars were loaded with lumber; the others carried machinery, sugar and other merchandise, the station agent said.

Damage to the cars and merchandise was heavy, the railroad spokesman said.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution.

Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.* Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Hill Upset By McDole In State Net Feature

. . . Men's Singles Play Tops Action

Bob McDole, a darkhorse entry from Grand Island, stole the fire from Lincoln title hopeful Bill Hill at the Lincoln Tennis Club courts Sunday as the Nebraska amateur tennis tournament progressed well into the quarter-final rounds.

McDole, suffering a poor start on the LTC clay courts, rallied to dispose of Hill 2-6, 6-3 and 6-3 after Hill had knocked out a seeded Russ Schlottzauer of Omaha the day before.

Second-seeded Bill North of Lincoln eliminated Steve Gleason of Hastings and top-seeded Bob Radin of Omaha in other men's quarterfinal matches.

Top-seeded doubles teams of North-McDole and Radin-Lou Gerdes, Omaha, both reached the semifinals with two victories apiece.

In the only veterans' singles match of the day Leo Cassidy of Omaha trounced Lincoln's Win Elmen 6-1 and 6-1.

Elmen-Les Longman of Lincoln downed LTC rivals Bob Crosby and Hubert Kenney and Barry Jackman-Father Stanley Siegienski eliminated Duke Slater-Dr. G. F. Unterscher in veterans doubles matches.

Results Sunday:

Ace Chief Hurler Notches 11th Win

Appleton, Wis.—Lincoln righthander Allen Brice pitched near-perfect ball over the last 5 innings here Sunday night and his teammates converted two Fox Cities errors into unearned runs in the 6th and 7th innings for a 5-3 victory.

The win sewed up the season series between the two clubs for Lincoln, which now owns a 10-7 bulge with a single game left here tonight.

The Chiefs scored the winning run in the 6th inning when Fox Cities catcher Jack Feller dropped the ball while tagging Chuck Lehman at the plate.

The bobble followed a perfect throw from outfielder Hernan Vila in an attempt to cut down Lehman, going home from 3rd after Deacon Jones' long fly.

Lincoln picked up an insurance tally an inning later when, with two down, Don Bacon lived on an error and came around on a walk and Lehman's single.

The angular Brice, Lincoln's winningest moundman with an 11-5 season's mark, was invincible from the 4th inning on. Pitching hitless ball from that point, he permitted the Foxes baserunners only through singular walks in the 5th and 7th frames.

This happened after bases on balls in the early innings nearly forced his departure.

Fox Cities stormed back from early deficits when Brice walked home Nate Oliver in the first and wild-pitched Phil Condu to the plate with the tying run in an inning later.

Brice retired the side in order in the 3rd but had the bases jammed again before getting Jim Johnston on an infield roller to end the 4th frame.

A walk to Lehman, Mike Hersherberger's triple and Jim Lynn's double sent Lincoln off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Carlos Pascual's errant toss on an attempted double play in the second restored the Chiefs' lead to 3-1.

25th Fairgrounds Race Meeting Starts Tuesday

A horse racing program that started with a 6-day season and a total handle of $5,000 in 1935 gets its 25th anniversary underway at the State Fairgrounds Tuesday with a 19-day season.

Since that first opening, State Fair Secretary Ed Schultz notes, the program has grown by leaps and bounds. Prospects this season, running 4 days over the 1958 event, are for a $3 million take.

Ready right now for the Tuesday opening, Schultz reported Sunday, are 610 horses. Additional stables, Schultz said, have been requested from Centennial Park in Denver and Fairmont Park in St. Louis.

Schultz expects the Fairgrounds season to hit a new peak with the observation that, "almost all of the horses have improved over the years."

A new safety feature at the track is a concrete runway to be used for pulling the starting gate off the track and preventing any bogging down in the mud.

Total purse distribution for the meet will reach a near $155,000, with minimums of $900 and maximums of $2,000 to be distributed.

Post times Monday through Friday are 3 p.m. Saturday cards open at 2:30. Among the first-week feature races are the $1,500 inaugural Handicap on opening day and the $2,000 Lincoln Sowers Club Handicap Friday.

Shrine Players To Begin Work Today

. . . At Boys Town, Midland College

By Al Beebe
Two weeks of hard work, interspersed with considerable fun, and an airplane trip to a crippled children's hospital in Minneapolis, culminating in a football game in Omaha's Municipal Stadium Aug. 22, gets underway today for 60 North-South gridders.

The 14 ds, graduates in June from Nebraska high school, will undergo physicals this morning at their respective camps — Boys Town for the South and Fremont's Midland College for the North.

Picture Day
On the afternoon slate is a picture-taking and interview session with the press.

Tuesday is the brief air ride to Minneapolis, where the athletes will visit with the children who will benefit from the proceeds of the first annual Shrine Bowl game.

By Wednesday, serious drills will have begun. Only break until gametime will be a dinner in Omaha next Sunday.

North Heavier
The North team, coached by Grand Island's Jerry Lee, will have a slight weight edge over the South. The North averages 186 as a team, with the backs averaging 174. Lee, who will leave Nebraska after his Shrine Bowl duties, will be assisted by Don Leahy of Creighton Prep, Schuyler's Don Watchorn (headed for an Omaha U. post), and Art Ronhovde of Fremont.

Skip Palrang, South head coach and the veteran mentor at Boys Town, will be aided by Vince Aldrich of Lincoln Pius X, Plattsmouth's Bill Hawkins, and Jess Keifer of Holdrege.

The Rebel team average is 184, with the backs averaging 185, indicating the North will operate with a bigger line than the South, but a smaller backfield.

Lincoln's two representatives on the South team are end Joe Moore of Lincoln High and Southeast's Dick Harr, a defensive back specialist.

The rosters:

SOUTH
Ends—Joe Moore (weight 165), Lincoln; Jack Kiscoan (18), Omaha South; Bruce Hunter (180), Omaha Central; Frank Boudjaveac (190), Omaha South; Jim Phinney (192), McCook. Ends average—181.

Bud On Limb Again

Football season has almost arrived and Bud Wilkinson, starting his 14th year at Oklahoma, has already gone out on the limb with his annual "don't put your money on us" forecast.

In a statement for OU publicist Harold Keith's 1959 Sooner brochure, the ever-modest Wilkinson has this much to say: "We are faced with the toughest early season schedule in recent years. Our team, particularly in the line, lacks the experience of our opponents and we can not hope to be a sound, strong team early in the year."

Bud, who goes on record each summer by saying his club "could be a winner" may have real reason to worry this time.

No Kingfishers

The Sooners face Northwestern, last year's Big 10 surprise, Colorado, Texas (only team to beat OU last autumn) and Missouri in their first 4 games. And Army is also on the lineup.

None of these clubs will be pushovers and the Sooners may wish they were playing Kingfisher College, a team OU never lost to in pre-1920 days.

The Sooners rolled up a 179-0 victory over Kingfisher in 1917 as Arlo "Skivey" Davis (sure, you remember him) set the national collegiate record (23) for conversions. Even with wider goal posts, no OU kicker is likely to do as well this season.

Gault, Nichols Boomed

Prentice Gault, first Negro to play football at Oklahoma, is the Sooners' top choice for All-American honors this fall.

After leading the Sooners in rushing, blocking and line-backing last year and pacing the OU Orange Bowl triumph over Syracuse, Oklahoma backers think the 196-pound junior fullback will be ready for the All-American step this fall.

Iowa State is booming tailback Dwight Nichols for the same honor. The Cyclone crusher has rushed and passed for over 2,500 yards the past two seasons and hopes for still better things in the coming campaign.

Candidates Aplenty

But with the likes of Army's Bob Anderson, Billy Cannon of LSU, Dick Bass of College of Pacific and Bob White of Ohio State still around, both Gault and Nichols will have to sizzle.

Other Big 8 players predicted for stardom will have to hustle, too, if the huge crop of last season's near-misses as sophomores and juniors continue their 1958 play.

This group includes familiar names such as Army's "Lonely End" Bill Carpenter, Monty Stickles of Notre Dame, Jackie Burkett of Auburn, Max Fugler of LSU, Don Meredith of SMU, Purdue's Bob Jarus, Richie Mayo of the Air Force Academy and Northwestern's Dick Thornton.

Rain Halts Play After Optimists Tie Dugdales

Lincoln Star Special
Columbus — Rains which started as early as the 5th inning eventually halted the opening round of action in the Nebraska American Legion Junior baseball tournament here Sunday night after the Lincoln Optimists and Omaha Dugdales had slugged their way to a 4-4 stalemate.

Action was halted in the 6th inning just as Lincoln tied the contest and loaded the bases with only one man out.

The umpires decision, made necessary when a deluge rendered the playing field hazardous, cost the Optimists the prospects of a king-sized rally.

Walks to Earl Wright and Bill Haas and a single by Ron Peet had loaded the bases for Manager Bob Lohrborg's 9, then leftfielder Wayne Kubert was hit by a pitched ball to force across the tying run.

Play was suspended as the Optimists' Jack Griffin stood at the plate with a 3-1 count. The rain also wiped out the second half of the scheduled doubleheader between Central City and McCook. The tournament will start all over again today, beginning with a South Omaha Chiefs-Scottsbluff midget encounter at 3 p.m.

The Optimists clash with Dugdales at 6:00, and Central City takes on McCook at 8:30.

In the only completed contest of Sunday's action Central City's midgits belted Omaha Murphys 13-5.

Both Dugdales hurler Ron Michka and Optimists ace Keith Sieck took cuffs in the suspended tilt. Leadoff batters Wally Duffy and Mike Cerone garnered singles off Sieck in the opening inning and came around on Michka's sacrifice fly and Rich Narrass's single.

The Optimists came up with 3 big runs—two of them unearned—in the bottom half of the same inning via 4 singles and a costly Dugdale error.

Optimist catcher Jim Levy's bad throws in the 3rd and 5th innings allowed the Omahans to climb into a 3-3 tie and later go ahead 4-3.

Milwaukee Outlasts Dodgers; Giants Get 10-Running Victory

Cepeda's Long HR Tips Reds

San Francisco (AP)—Orlando Cepeda's 10th home run kept San Francisco in the National League lead Sunday with a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati.

Cepeda's 23rd home run cleared the fence at the 402-foot mark in left-center field and came off Don Newcombe, who lost to the Giants for the first time this season. He had beaten them 4 times previously and now has a 10-6 record overall.

Jack Sanford held the Reds to 5 hits, including a first-inning home run by Gas Bell and a 9th-inning, game-winning homer by Jerry Lynch that cleared the right field bleachers, a good 400 feet from home plate.

The Giants put up a gigantic beef in the 10th when plate umpire Al Barlick overruled base umpires Bill Jackowski and Shag Crawford on a balk call. Sanford had tagged Johnny Temple out between first and second and Temple and manager Freddie Hutchinson put up an immediate squawk. Barlick reversed the base umpires, bringing Bill Rigney and the Giants storming out onto the field.

After being held to two hits for 7 innings, the Reds tied it at two-all in the 8th on Roy McMillan's single. Newcombe's forceout grounder and a hotly-disputed triple by Johnny Temple.

Gus Bell's first-inning home run, his 14th, and Ed Bailey's single in the 5th were the only hits off Sanford prior to the 8th.

The first two runs off Newcombe resulted from shoddy play and Newk's own wildness.

Moore, Durelle Rematch Slated For Wednesday

By The Associated Press
 Ancient Archie Moore's twice-postponed rematch with Yvon Durelle finally will be held Wednesday in the Montreal Forum.

If the second fight comes close to their first meeting in Montreal, Dec. 10, it will be well worth watching. That was the night old Archie got off the floor 4 times and finally knocked out the Canadian in the 11th round.

Archie had to ask for one postponement because of a training injury. That set the fight back from July 15 to July 29. When Moore's wife underwent a serious operation in San Diego, he hustled home to force a second postponement.

The 15-round lightweight title scrap will be carried on network (ABC) television.

Lincoln Waltons Keep Ike Trophy

Lincoln Izaak Walton League skeet-shooters held on to the trophy by a slim margin of 12 rocks at the Lincoln grounds Sunday during the two chapters' combined annual picnic.

Around 200 members and their families, including 60 from Fremont, were on hand for the all-day event.

Spade work was accomplished for an inter-chapter archery shoot next year.

All youngsters were awarded prizes for competition that included fishing, bait casting, BB gun and slingshot firing, badminton, tether ball, volleyball and horse shoe pitching.

Buc Wins Race To The Plate

Pittsburgh Pirates centerfielder Bill Virdon toes up at home plate in the 6th inning Sunday, winning the race with the ball about to be caught by Chicago Cub

Phillie Pair Dim St. Louis Hopes

St. Louis (AP)—Gene Conley and Jim Owens, a pair of big righthanders, Sunday pitched the last-place Philadelphia Phillies to a doubleheader sweep over St. Louis, 8-3 and 4-2, putting a crimp in the Cardinals' first division hopes.

Conley, now 11-7, turned in a steady 7-hitter and singled home the winning run in the 8th inning of the first game. Ed Bouchee's grand-slam home run iced it in the 9th.

Owens, making his record 8-9, got a big assist from 39-year-old Dave Philley, whose pinch single broke a 2-2 tie in the 9th. George Anderson's sacrifice fly scored the insurance run. Joe Koppe's double started the rally and a late throw to 3rd by pitcher Marshall Bridges on Joe Lonnett's sacrifice bunt set things up for Philley.

Dick Farrell pitched the 9th and was given a scare on Curt Flood's single and Stan Musial's pinch single before retiring the side.

The Phillies thus salvaged the last two games of a 5-game set. They had lost 8 straight to the Cards in St. Louis before Sunday.

In a year when champions are falling right and left, Moore still is favored to repeat last winter's victory. However, if Durelle clips him like he did in December, the champ will be in for another rough evening.

Archie has held the crown since 1952 when he whipped Joey Maxim. He has defended it successfully 7 times. The record books say Archie has a 175-24-6 record for 205 pro fights.

Durelle, an awkward freestyle, was from Baie St. Anne, N.B., has been in action once since he lost to Moore. The fighting fisherman knocked out Teddy Burns May 12. His record is 77-20-2 and one no contest bout in 100 fights. He holds the Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight titles.

Face Gets 15th Victory As Pirates Trim Cubs

Chicago (AP)—Relief specialist Elroy Face picked up his 15th victory without defeat and the Pittsburgh Pirates crashed into the first division by defeating the Chicago Cubs 5-3 Sunday in 10 innings.

The Pirates scored twice in the 9th inning to pull into a tie and picked up two more runs in the 10th on Dick Groat's tie-breaking single and a bases-loaded walk to Rocky Nelson.

It was the second straight extra-inning triumph for the Pirates who have a phenomenal 15-1 record in overtime games. Ironically, their only extra-inning defeat came when Harvey Haddix pitched his perfect game but lost to Milwaukee.

Face, who has now won 20 games without a loss in a two-season span, came on in the 8th inning after starter Vern Law had been taken out for a pinch batter. He gave up an

6-Run 3rd Helps 8-7 Triumph

Los Angeles (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves scored 6 runs in the 3rd inning Sunday, but barely staggered in for an 8-7 victory over Los Angeles before 29,234 fans.

The Dodger defeat dropped the club 1½ games behind league-leading San Francisco.

Bob Buhl posted his 9th pitching victory in 16 decisions. But Buhl's control was off, and after Duke Snider tagged him for his 17th homer of the season in the 9th with Wally Moon on base, he gave way to Don McMahon.

Don Demeter followed Snider with a single and McMahon then uncorked two wild pitches that advanced Demeter to third. He walked Johnny Roseboro, but Don Zimmer ended the game by forcing Roseboro.

Snider's homer landed in the right field corner, 333 feet from home plate. The Duke has now hit safely in 12 consecutive games.

A 3-run homer by Joe Adcock and a homer with one on by Eddie Mathews were the big blows for the Braves.

Central City 9 Midget Winner

Columbus (AP)—Central City eliminated Omaha Murphys from the Class A American Legion midge baseball tournament here Sunday, 13-5.

Scottsbluff and Omaha Chiefs also had been scheduled to play but the game was postponed until Monday afternoon due to a scheduling mix-up.

One Ace, 4 Eagles Spice Golf Action

Four Eagles and a hole-in-one commanded the spotlight in the list of golfing achievements for city linksmen over the weekend.

Most spectacular of the former was a 125-yard approach shot turned in by Hillcrest

County Club's Sam Gatto on the 378-yard 15th hole at HCC.

Gatto used a No. 7 iron for the trick, only once before equaled at the club.

At Thunder Ridge Golf Club, where 102 entries qualified for the Thunder Ridge Open, Paul Gillispie shot an eagle on No. 5 hole while carding 9-hole rounds of 34 and 30.

*The No. 3 hole at Lincoln Country Club was eagled by both Herb Deurmyer and Matt Taber.

Dr. Fred Ferciot of LCC got the ace, a hole-in-one on the par 3 148-yard No. 3 hole.

Events scheduled for the week include a Park Valley Golf Links boys' junior tournament for 17-year-olds and under opening with qualifying this morning at 8, the Hillcrest junior boys and girls club medal tournament starting Tuesday morning, a ladies guest day at Lincoln Country Club Tuesday and the continuation of the Ladies Publinks Tournament at Pioneer's Golf Course.

Club-by-club roundup:
 Lincoln Country Club
 State runner Dick Spangler Jr. came back off the tournament trail with a 3-under par 69. Other top scores belonged to Jim Swanson, 74; Matt Taber and Valley Voyles,
